Although three hours were spent in the taion yesterday virtually nothing was aced in the matter of hearing the complianced in the matter of hearing the insues in dispute, and when an adjournment was taken until to-morrow afternoon it was for the purpose of citing and bearing witnesses, who could throw light on the question raised whether Vicar-General O'Connor, the judge of the trial, was sufficiently unbiased to act in his judicial capacity.

Father Corrigan last night made public a copy of a letter he wrote hishop Wigger Nov. 21, in which he defended his right as an American citizen to criticise the German Gatholic Congress. No personal affront was intended, the letter says, to the Bishop, and suggested that the whole matter be dropped. This letter, it is said, has formed the oasis of a new charge of using insulting language towards Bishop Wigger.

He Does Not Believe in Restricting immigration for a Year.

Dr. Jenkins thinks that to stop immigration for a period of one year, as has been suggested, would be not only inhuman but would be a confession of the inefficiency of our sanitary regulations.

Concerning the danger from cholera next year, Dr. Jenkins says that he does not believe it will be so great as last year. As a precautionary measure, however, he will ask the Legislature to vote an appropriation with which to prepare for any emergency which may arise.

A hospital ship will be built to accommodisinfecting plant provided. Fire Island will be retained as a quarantine station.
